COMMISSIONERS PROCLAIM NATIONAL CRIME VICTIMS' RIGHTS WEEK, COMMEND DISTRICT ATTORNEY FOR EFFORTS TO HELP VICTIMS

WELD COUNTY, CO – At today's Board Meeting of the Weld County Commissioners, Commissioner Chairman Sean Conway proclaimed the week of April 22-28 National Crime Victims' Rights Week. The proclamation was then presented to Weld County District Attorney Ken Buck.

"We are proud of what we refer to as Team Weld County," said Commissioner Conway at the meeting, "and the District Attorney's Office is an important part of that team. Every day that office, along with victim service providers, works to improve the lives of our citizens. We commend them for their efforts. We recognize the positive impact each of you has in our community daily."

This year's Weld County Victims' Rights Week event will be held on April 20, 2012 at the Evans Community Center.

Following the reading of the proclamation into the record, the Board of Commissioners and Buck, along with representatives from Catholic Charities, A Kid's Place, Sexual Assault Victim Advocate Center, A Woman's Place, Weld County Area on Aging, Greeley Police Department Victim Assistance, Courts Collection Department, District Attorney's Office Victim Assistance, Evans Police Chief and VALE Board member (Victim Assistance Law Enforcement) Rick Brandt, posed for a group photo.
