WELD COUNTY EMPLOYEE OF 33 YEARS HONORED AT BOARD MEETING

WELD COUNTY, CO – The Weld County Board of Commissioners honored Kathryn Johnston this morning for her 33 years of service to the county. Johnston, an employee with the Weld County District Attorney’s Office, retired today and was presented with a plaque from the Commissioners during today’s board hearing.

“Kathy’s tenure at the District Attorney’s Office is remarkable,” said Chairman Sean Conway. “The fact that Kathy dedicated 33 years of her life to one office, the District Attorney’s Office, is a tremendous statement of passion and dedication for her job. We are sorry to see her go, but wish her the best in retirement – she certainly deserves it!”

Johnston, who started as a part-time employee with the District Attorney’s office in 1974 and was later hired as a full-time employee in 1978, has worked on some of Weld County’s most notable criminal cases including: Renee Polreis, Durre/Manners, Philip Andrade, Johnny Arguello, Felix Olguin and John Sandoval.
