DISCOVER WELD HIGHLIGHTS THE MISSILE SITE PARK AND FARMERS' MARKETS IN JULY UPDATE

One of several murals at the Missile Site Park located west of Greeley. The missile silo, which is owned by Weld County, is open for tours. To learn more, go to www.weldgov.com.

Farm fresh produce as well as hand crafted items can be found at any of the Farmers' Markets located throughout the county.

WELD COUNTY, CO – This month on the Discover Weld web site visitors will get a peek at the Missile Silo Park located west of Greeley and owned by Weld County. The silo, which once housed an Atlas E missile, is open for tours and provides guests with a unique look into Cold War era history.

Also featured in the July update, is information about the many Farmers' Markets located throughout the area. Weld County is the number one agricultural county in the state and that means residents and visitors get to enjoy true farm-fresh produce each week at the various markets around the county.

The 'Your Weld' section of the site features some new photos submitted by site visitors and is a fun way for the public to share images taken in Weld County.

Visits to the site continue to grow. Since Discover Weld launched in May 2013, the site has received more than 2,100 page visits.
