WELD COUNTY OFFERS RESIDENTS AND BUSINESSES ON-LINE LEGAL NOTICES

WELD COUNTY, CO – In an on-going effort to improve and enhance communication between government and residents, the Board of Commissioners approved and launched a new section of the county web site for legal notices.

Colorado State Statutes require certain county government meetings, announcements and documents to be published in a local newspaper.

“While we will continue to abide by this inefficient, outdated state law, the reality is there are more effective ways to get this information to Weld County residents, which is why we created this new section of the web site,” said Commissioner William Garcia.

“It just makes sense,” said Commissioner Sean Conway. “People go to the internet for almost everything these days. By putting our legal notices on our web site, we are making sure more people have access to this information.”

The Legal Notice web page will include notices from various county departments and is searchable by date, department or keyword.
