COMMISSIONER KIRKMEYER NAMED TO NACo STEERING COMMITTEE

WELD COUNTY, CO – This month, Weld County Commissioner Barbara Kirkmeyer learned she was confirmed as a member of the Environment, Energy and Land Use Steering Committee for the National Association of Counties (NACo).

“This committee touches on subject matter of critical importance to not only Weld County but also the entire Western region,” said Kirkmeyer. “My service on this committee will ensure the issues and concerns regarding energy, land use and the environment will be addressed with agriculture and private property rights in mind.”

As a member of the committee, Kirkmeyer will participate in monthly committee conference calls and assist in developing a platform to discuss county issues on a national level.

“The expertise and engagement of our steering committee members is a main reason why Congress and federal agencies often look to NACo for feedback on legislative policy decisions being made in Washington D.C.” Bryan Desloge, Present of NACo, said in his letter to Kirkmeyer.

NACo is an association that unites all of America’s 3,069 county governments. Through the organization, county officials come together to advocate for national policy, exchange ideas, build leadership skills and enhance the public’s understanding of county government.
