WELD COUNTY COMMISSIONERS RECOGNIZE MILLIKEN MAYOR MILT TOKUNAGA

WELD COUNTY, CO – The Weld County Board of Commissioners recognized Milliken Mayor Milt Tokunaga during their Board meeting on Monday, March 14, 2016, as well as during the Milliken Town Board Meeting on Wednesday, April 13, 2016, for his dedication to the residents of Milliken throughout his four-year term.

During and after the 2013 flood, Mayor Tokunaga's leadership was crucial to the town's recovery process. "Milt's relentless work to rebuild the community after the flood was truly admirable," said Commissioner Julie Cozad, Commissioner for District 2, which includes Milliken. "In every decision he makes, Milt thinks about what is best for the residents and the community. He will be missed."

Mayor Tokunaga's service to the community extended to municipal representation on several boards including the Update Colorado Economic Development Board and the Highway 85 Coalition. He was also essential in developing a coordinated planning agreement between Milliken and the county.

"Milt is very detail oriented and always has a positive perspective," said Commissioner Barbara Kirkmeyer. "The Board has enjoyed working with him, and we thank him for his contribution to Weld County."

Mayor Tokunaga first served on the Milliken Town Board of Trustees before being elected as Mayor in 2012.
