WELD COUNTY COMMISSIONERS RECOGNIZE LORI MOSER FOR 39 YEARS OF SERVICE

WELD COUNTY, CO – The Weld County Board of Commissioners recognized Weld County Dispatcher Lori Moser for her 39 years of service to Weld County.

"The Board truly thanks Lori for her dedication to the residents of Weld County," said Commissioner Chair Mike Freeman. "Dealing with the pressure of taking emergency calls for 39 years is an amazing accomplishment."

Moser started her career as a dispatcher on June 27, 1977. She spent 16 years as a Weld County Dispatcher before her employment shifted to the City of Greeley. In 2013, Moser's employment shifted back to Weld County. Over the years, Moser has witnessed significant changes in her position, migrating from cards and switchboards to the current state-of-the-art computers and technology systems.

"Lori is the definition of Team Weld," said Commissioner Pro-Tem Sean Conway, Commissioner Coordinator for the Public Safety Communications Department. "Throughout both transitions, her commitment to providing services to residents and emergency responders did not waiver."

During retirement, Moser plans to spend more time relaxing with her family.
