“We do not need to know the beginning of a child’s story to change the ending.”
~Fi, foster mom

Right now, children in your community are vulnerable and hurting. But they are only one caring adult away from being a success story. Do you have enough love to share to help heal a wounded heart and broken spirit?

Weld County children are in urgent need of loving foster families. If you have room in your heart and room in your home, please consider becoming a foster parent. You have the power to say, “I will not let their story end like this.”

Partner with Weld County Department of Human Services in making a positive, life-long impact in the lives of our community’s children in need. We provide ongoing support, training, counseling and resources to ensure success every step of the way, for you and for your family. For more information, contact us at (970) 400-6849 or fostercare@weldgov.com, or visit the Human Services Department’s Foster Care page at www.weldgov.com.
